

PEACE IS DOING PEACE ISSUE AND STIR UP A STORM

Government Duplicitous in Its Attitude Toward Reichstag Resolution Is Feared.

DEMANDED CHANCELLOR TAKE A DEFINITE STAND

Majority Leaders Not Inclined to Grant "Elbow Room" on "No-Annexation" Policy.

COPENHAGEN, August 25.—Yesterday's session of the main committee of the Reichstag was productive of further declarations and discussions regarding Chancellor Michaelis' attitude on peace, which the latest German papers construe variously. A careful perusal of the mass of reports and comments on the committee meetings yesterday and Wednesday shows that Dr. Michaelis throughout conference with party leaders did not change his attitude regarding the wording of his ambiguous speech of July 19, and the situation as far as pinning him down to any definite peace program remains exactly where it was when he assumed office. It was brought out in the report of yesterday's proceedings that the majority party representatives endeavored before the Reichstag meeting, July 19, to secure from him definite assurances, but failed.

Herr Erbsberger's View.

Herr Erbsberger, the centrist leader, alone declared in yesterday's committee sitting that doubt as to the Chancellor's acceptance of the principle of peace without annexations and indemnities now had been eliminated for good. All other views ranged from mild doubt and open skepticism to flat denial. Herr Erbsberger, the centrist organ, is inclined to give the Chancellor the benefit of the doubt, but demands that he defend his political integrity and good faith against pan-German machinations by a plain and unequivocal statement that he does not hold ideas of annexation and conquest which these elements attribute to him.

Demands Elbow Room.

The Chancellor on Wednesday, as on the day when he assumed office, declared that he was not a peace negotiator, but a peace maker, and that peace must be made on the basis specified in the resolution. He also declared that he was not a peace negotiator, but a peace maker, and that peace must be made on the basis specified in the resolution.

Accuse Pan-Germans.

Newspapers representing the majority party accused the Chancellor of attempting to use Chancellor Michaelis as a "battering ram" against the coalition, rather than for his own sake. They also accused him of attempting to use the Reichstag as a platform for his own political purposes, and of attempting to use the Reichstag as a platform for his own political purposes.

Considers Economic Problems.

The Chancellor's presence at great Reichstag sessions has brought full to the general public the details of the peace issue. The Chancellor's presence at great Reichstag sessions has brought full to the general public the details of the peace issue.

Free Reign for Pan-Germans.

The Chancellor gave free reign to the pan-German campaign, but hampered it in every possible way by the efforts of those working on the basis of the Reichstag resolution of July 19.
